Guitar magic from Dinnigan

West Sussex Guitar Club and friends were privileged to witness in the Old School concert Hall, Bognor Regis, a great performance given by top English classical guitarist Simon Dinnigan.

Hailed as a child prodigy from the age of nine, Simon has won many prestigious awards and, although still in his twenties, has played at important venues in Europe, USA, Central America, South America and South East Asia.

He currently holds the position of Professor of Guitar at the Conservatoire of Music in Birmingham.

The programme opened with the pure and powerful tone of Bach's Andante from Sonata No 2, followed by a display of perfect technique in the Allegro.

The Introduction and Polonaise by Coste showed complete command of the instrument along with an excellent sense of style.

A collection of Latin American rhythms and melodies in Suite Venezolana by Laura charmed the audience and the first half ended with the deep feeling of Barrios' Una Limosna por el Amor de Dios, exquisitely expressed through an immaculate tremolo.

There was more music by Barrios in the second half of the recital, with Granada by Albeniz and some fine modern pieces composed by Salvador Brotons. The highly-charged and original composition Usher Waltz, by Russian composer Nikita Koshkin, ended the performance and rounded off an altogether memorable evening.

Festival a great success!

Considerable effort went into making the guitar section of the Chichester Festival more accommodating and inspiring this year and resulted in two full days and every possible combination of guitars.

On the first day (under 18s) our audience heard over one hundred performers in nine classes. There were twenty eight solo performances, twelve duets, two trios, three quartets and three big guitar ensembles. Very encouraging was the number of participants in the beginners and intermediate classes. We can now look forward to the next few years with so many promising young guitarists going from strength to strength.

Congratulations to all the players, teachers and parents on achieving such good musical results and keeping the standard of performance at such a high level!

Even in the beginners' class performers demonstrated good stage manners, and as the classes progressed we enjoyed some performances presented with real poise - a good sign of a genuine artist. Although the adjudicator had to single out two performances for first and second places, every performer achieved something unique.

and special and our capacity audience was quick to thank every player with warm applause.

The success of the day owed a lot to the inviting and friendly atmosphere created by our adjudicator, Nicola Hall. Nicola is a superb guitarist and very busy performer, and combines her flourishing musical career with intense studies to become...a barrister.

Day two generated no less excitement, and throughout the day the hall was constantly full. The walls of the Old School regularly hear a good deal of applause, but to hear an enthusiastic applause every few minutes from eleven in the morning to six o’clock at night for two days - that was certainly a good sign for all of us.

The most welcome development in the adult section was that so many good players came from as far as Brighton, Worthing and Hove, not to mention Harry Verzy coming from the Isle of Wight!

The standard on day two was high enough for Mr. Ramirez to apply at times a professional scale of judgment, and we all enjoyed an excellent variety of music in many different styles. The ensemble section produced three big ensembles and showed an excellent community spirit by even sharing the players! The atmosphere of the whole day was very uplifting and culminated in the highest ever standard of performance in the Recital class.

We are very grateful to Nicola Hall and Charles Ramirez for all the encouragement and useful criticism they offered to all who took part in this year’s festival. We now look forward to both these outstanding musicians visiting the Club in their different capacity as performers, and sharing with us the revelation of their gift.

Thanks also must go to all those who assisted in various ways throughout the two days and helped them to run so efficiently.
